Susan Miller moved to California from Connecticut in 2009 after more than a decade of taking care of her husband, who had early-onset Alzheimer’s. She wanted a different life and one where she was not known as a caregiver or a widow.

A wife and mother, she has been a school teacher, in sales, a realtor, and a corporate trainer and counselor. She is currently an author and speaker on Alzheimer’s disease. Susan will share her positive and negative experiences of living with Alzheimer’s.

Susan has two volumes of a trilogy published, which is the reflections of one woman’s struggle to cope with and make sense of the diagnosis of Alzheimer’s for her husband. It is her goal to help caregivers and families deal with this nasty disease that steals something from everyone it touches.

Newcomers meet monthly on 1st Wednesdays at the Carlsbad Senior Center:
